counties of Valencia, Socorro and Grant, the new seventh judicial district; council bill 119, Hewitt, changing the boundaries between Socorro and Lincoln counties; council bill 101, McBee, act relating to foreclosure of mortgages; house bill 244, Baca, act for disposition of certain insurance monies; house bill 222, Baca, act relating to contractors' lien on buildings under construction; house bill 226, Garcia, act providing for settlement of title to land grants; council substitute for council bill 125, McBee, act relative to fees for recording of chattel mortgages; amended house bill 189, Stackhouse, act protecting industries of Indians in New Mexico; house bill 292, Bushkevitz, act relating to acknowledgments; house bill 290, Brice, act relative to adjutant general's office; house bill 168, Bushkevitz, act creating county of Coronado out of parts of Union and Mora counties; house bill 240, Davidson, act providing for liquidation of judgments against counties; house bill 167, Sweezy, by request, act to create county of Nolan, with Wagon Mound as the county seat.

The house refused to concur in the council amendments to house substitute for house bill 44, Roberts, act creating irrigation districts, and in house bill 103, Walters, act providing for new form of management of territorial penitentiary. Both bills were tabled by overwhelming vote.

Representative Mirabal made attempt to get all bills in hands of the steering committee before house for consideration, but a resolution to this effect was defeated. An adjournment was then taken until 2 o'clock.

Afternoon Session.

The afternoon session started out as though there would be something doing, when the steering committee reported house bill 247, the Lee county bill, with Artesia as the county seat, recommending that the bill be not passed. An attempt to pass the bill failed by a vote of 16 to 8, and the same was tabled indefinitely, disposing of it for the next two years.

Council substitute for house bill 120, the Roberts' election law, was passed, while house refused to concur in the council substitute for the general appropriation and deficiency bills. On motion of Roberts, a notice was sent to the council asking the naming of a conference committee on these bills from that body to act with a like committee from the house. The council named such a committee, consisting of Hanley, Catron, Upton, Gallegos and Spies. A recess was then taken to allow the conferees to get together on the two important bills.

The governor yesterday afternoon sent veto message No. 4 to both houses, returning unapproved house substitute for house bill 162, an act authorizing the members of the legislature to name indigent pupils to certain territorial institutions, explaining as his reason for vetoing same that he understood other similar legislation was under consideration and would be enacted. The veto was sustained without a dissenting vote.
